Stay, stay at home, my heart, and rest: Home keeping hearts are happiest, For those that wander they know not where Are full of trouble and full of car, To stay at home is pest.

Weary, and homesick and distressed. They wander east, they wander west, And are baffled, and beaten and blown about By the winds of the wilderness of doubt, To stay at home is best.

Then stay at home, my heart, and rest; The bird is safest in its nest; O'er all that flutter their wings and fly A hawk is hovering in the sky; To stay at home is best -H. W. Longfellow

Official Paper of the City of Cooraco Springs.

The war news is very meagre, this week. We hope it will continue to grow heautifully less, Preparations for war on a large scale are going on, which preparations may possibly act as preventives of the great calamity. The conference of nations will probably meet during the arst fortnight in March.

Cardinal Giacchino Pecci has been elected pope; taking the name of Leo XIII He is an Sahan. Count Legar has presented him with one million francs, as the first donation of Yeter's pence. When the election became known, all the church bells of Rome rang, and the diplomats went to the new pope. He is ed to be a man of fine personal appearance, of great learning and dignity, of considerable liter ery talent, and of blameless private life.

The silver bill his passed the Senate and gone into the House. The passage of this bill by the Senate, has apparently strengthened rither than weakened. American credit in Furope. Nothing can tend so much to disturb edit as our uncertain condition.

Since the above was put in type, the House has adopted the bill with the Senate amend ments, and it is now in the hands of the Prest

Two notorious and hardened rogues, Win. Klawen and Joe Miller, have with much diffiuity and after long delay, been caught, brought into town and lodged in jail. Now, what are we going to do with them? This is not the first time these same criminals have wen caught. Then accomplice, erry Mct arry, is now undergoing his trial, has already necessarily occupied much of the Court's time. is it proposed to allow these criminals to rest awhile in the County's free boarding house and then depart to again pursue their trade; or have we bars and shark'es strong enough to detain an? There will be no possible excuse to give no excuse will be acceptable, if they esc ipe again.

As New England is petitioning Congress to abolish or reduce the present tariff on imported wools, we of the West should earnestly and without delay petition that there should be no each abolishment or reduction. New England having gained all she can by a protective tariff on wool, finds it now to her interest to advocate free trade in this particular, but the granting of her petition would be thost detrimental to us. Or wool-growers, the hispority of whom have ist embarked in this enterprise, need protection. Properly nourished, this enterprise will he'a great source of we lth, not only to this regein, but to the whole country. We are where New England was niny years ago; we ask of the general governmedat just what New Englind osket then. One plea urged by these peto oners is it correct, nan ely, that the coarse wood needed in one branch fitheir manufactor ies is not produced in this country. THE CLIMATE OF THE MOJAVE DESERT-A VALUABLE PROS-PECTIVE SOURCE OF REVENUE FOR COLORADO.

MOJAVE STATION, 370 miles south of San } Francisco, Cal., Feb. 17, 1878.

While the train is delayed by a wash-out near Cameron, I send a note to indicate the character of the climate at this desert station, on the side of the great cordineras opposite to Colorado Springs and a little south thereof. The great Mojave Desert occupies a large portion of the southern part of California, and appears to be an arm of the arid plains of Arizo na, extending northward inside the Coast Range. The climate is singularly div. Last year the entire rainfall here was only 86-100 of an inch, this year since December 14, 4.15 of an inch have already fallen. The rainfall comes wholly in winter. The summers are cloudless, and the wind blows continuously from the north-sometimes for a whole month without change. This breeze makes the climate comfortable, although the air is often very bot. Those who live here say that they do not feel the heat as much as they did the quiet, hot atmosphere of the Eastern States. During July and August the thermometer ranges from 75° to 100° at sunrise, and from 95° to 105° in the shade at 2 p. m. During actuary of this year the average temperature at 7 a. m. was about 45°, at 2 p, m. 05°, and at 9 p. m. 48°. During this month the winds lose their regular character, and are fitful, while one-fourth of the days are partly overcast.

The vegetation of the country is influenced by the remarka le want of rainfall, and alspears of grass are scattered over the surface. A low sage bush is the most abundant growth, while occasional elkhorn cactus is seen of a variety resembling that found in the Arkansas Valley. There is little game and few birds. The "water for this station has to be brought twelve miles in pines.

The only production of the country that romises to be of value for exportation is the free Yocca (Yuerd armeous), which is found considerable quantities. The plant grows like a palm ten to thirteen feet high, with a tuft of leaves at the end of each branch. Fifty per cent of the trunk is said to be the finest paper fibre. A mill has been erected at Ra venna Station, some twenty miles south, to grind it to a pulp for export to New York. where it commands seven to eight cents per pound. As soon as the Denver & Rio Grande. Railway reaches the tree-vucca parallel on its way south, this protein will supply Colorado with an abundant source of paper stock, which may build up. be worked up by our clear streams into material for the writing paper, newspaper, and s, hool books of all the Rocky Mountain country and the Mississippi Valley. NEW MEXICO.

As New Mexico is about to be introduced to the world through the medium of railroids, we shall attempt to other to our readers, a series of total government was 6 rmed in 1851. Dur ing these twen'y six years it has made compar atively small advancement in the scale of civil iz dion. This is owing to the fact of its have ing no direct communication with other sections and to the lack of enterprise mordent to an isolated and, in large measure, uneducated popul latem, in a country whise mild chimate, rich soil, and varied natural productions do not make hard hior a necessity. If the pilgrams of long ago had landed in this part of our continent inreason to believe that the flar acter of the perple of the United States would have been quite the reverse of what it is tooday, and in all probability New England would still have been a s "buren shore." And so this vist sterchoose of mineral and agricultural wealth, with an average extent of 352 miles north and south, and 112 east and west, has remained firmly locked to the present time. This year is to see these gates unbound, civilization's shrill-voiced, from armed aposte, with the aftendant train of ruschmen, miners, mechanics, schools, and churches, is bearing down upon the land, and Mexico stands ready to greet her deliverer with hearly welcome. Her level table lands, fertile valleys, and be ruteous hillsides, with streams of are water, other attractive homes to those who having fought their way on sterner soils and in harder climates, will find here a realized Utopia, in which the gathered strength and energy of their experience will accomplish wonders. The ranchman will find a variety of natural nutritious grasses, giving pasturage all the year round for his stock, in a climate where there is no necessity for artificial shelter, as the canonand valleys give all needed protection from the few storms which occur. He will here also find a soil where oats, corn, barley, wheat, fruits grow luxuriously. This soil is cultivated impoverishing the soil. The same lands which ago are as rich and productive to-day as then An excelent wine is made from the grapes wood are produced here, and improved sheep country is southerly, consequently is visited while the peculiarities of our natural forma, by warm winds and protected from cold northfavorable influences to agriculture and horticulare the piñon and mesquite, spruce, pine, and is from 6,000 to 8,000 feet above sea-level. of the great sanitarium of this continent. TER PRESS.

The press has been instrumental in buildens up the various resources which made Co.oraco. to-day, one of the most attractive spots to those in search of fortune, health, and pleasure. Yet how little this labor, in a great measure, has been appreciated, what kicks and rebuffs has she always to content with, what a crop in the sea is the support that she is given; truly the way of the press is hard. A "ittle clear thought on the part of Colorado's business men and citizens, would soon prove to them a few sensible and reasonable facts which some have not yet attained. The surest sign of a prosperous mit to go out of their home. When a person picks up for the first time a paper well printed wit make their appearance. and edited, a masterpiece in typography, he is immediately prepossessed with the city from whence it is issued; the same in regard to ate and amented Mr. arey, will be one that is badly printed and slovenly edited peased to renew oc actuaistance at suggests the kind of people in whose midst that paper is printed. It is, therefore the interest of every business man to do what he can to support his paper, to do all he can to promote the this i ustrious personage may come interests of a paper which must in turn promote the interests of its city and be the means of building, up the town and County generally. Let him remember that every edition of a newspaper that goes out is one step toward building up his business interests; let him remember that whatever he may pay each month toward advertising his business must come back to him, either directly or indirectly; a man's business, whether it be prosperous or ne is always known by the advertising he doc. There are various ways of advertising, but that through the medium of the newspaper is alone the best. The man who advertises though the land is naturally fertile, only a few 'liberally is sure to succeed, provided that he does not advertise what he has not got, which is too often the case. Let a man rather under estimate in attracting the public, then over estimate his stock of goods. The most successful men this country to day, are those men who have liberally patronized the columns of the newspaper. A. T. Stewart and hundreds of others to prevent a regular raid of persons have spent small fortunes in advertising what they had to sell. It was A. T. Stewart who once made the remark that advertising did not pay and he would quit it. He did quit it and after attaining great loss thereby, thoroughly appreciated the situation and commenced again on a more thorough and larger system, from which day be himself said he had been gradually building up.

Whilst here in this city we may fairly say we cannot complain of the want of enterprise on the part of her citizens, but at the same time, the more advertising is done and the more support that is given, the sooner will our city

Now, how s the ent white men going to work against a people that can live that way?" An extensive area n D port ind adjoining Streets is given up exclusively to the "coolies". They rent a large building and cut it up into bundreds of rocms, and a lapt it to the habits they have learned in their own over crowded land. There are probably few things found in a Camese city not found here. There are at least two therities in full blist every evening. I went int; the ackson Street building at seven o'c ock one evening with a bright Chinaman. The slay had been running for four hours and a had—it still had a half hour to run. We were charged ten cents each, because we came hey begin with thirty five cents, and reduce in price every hour High comedy was being oracted. The interest turned on the loss of a valuable jewel, which, at last, was duly found, but chiefly upon the meeting, after many adventures, of two estranged lovers, who at the close of the performance, come upon the stage sumu taneously, see each other, paze a moment and then al flat bactwards, teet to fect. "What is the matter now?" I said to

Her not see him-many years Him dizzy her dizzy" The audience was almost exclu sively Chinese. They sat in perfect quiet with their hats on, following the play. No one smiled-no one spoke-there was no applause they were at the end of the hith hour, and the interest seemed unabated. There were no stage accessories, no elaborate change o' dress, no shifting scenes, no drop curtain, the music was monotonous and harsh, nothing but a plun table and a few chairs occupied the stage. The whole entertainment was, so to speak, intellectual-the fate of the jewel, the fate of the lovers, the joys and sorrows of the parents. For five mortal hours fifteen hundred "cooles had sat more quietly than the con-gregation of Plymouth Church will sit for one under the ministration of their favorite pas or, wrapt in a simple domestic drama of Chinese They quetly cleared the hou when the swooning hero and herome had recovered, a d at eight o clock another audience began to as semble, which was to be amused until three in

I was particularly interested in the testimony of some of the employers of Chinese laboreis in large bodies Mr Sissons, of Sissons, Walker & Co, who has employed several thousand on railroad work, says they were uniformly as trustwo thy as the whites, and as rule would keep their bargains better. They had bodies of men it work in Sin. Francisco at $20 per month, at bort Yuma at $30, at Ogden at 128 -all in gold, payable monthly in San Fran cisco. They had furnished many men to work on railways in the malarious parts of Louisiana and elsewhere, and found that they were much more healthy than the other laborers

The engineer of a road recently built in California told me that he had employed sev eral hundred at a time for many months, they were always trustworthy and when working piece work were remarkably industrious When working by the day they made a fur day's work and stepped. In one instruce a large ging of Chinamen obtained a contract for taking out a deep cut at a certain price per yard. The test pits they made wer not in merous enough, so that in the course of the excusation a large mass of rock was met with unexpectedly The Chinamen saw their diffi-culty They attacked the rock, worked early and late, and by moonlight. They finished the work in time, and when they were paid they received what was equivalent to nine cents per day about enough to pay forth write that they ask for exert all wance for just No sail the engineer that did not seem to occurs them. They appeared to such that a hargain was a bargain

An old friend of mine a mining engineer of many years experience in the case and f wide of servation in Europe and Asia, said he was sure that the Chinese had been of the greatest us hat we have en igh of them 100 000 is ill we want but, said I there are unlimited sources of weath here—why not have then rapidly devel ped? Yes, I would like the development, but I am afraid of the Chinese, said he The fact is they are more call e men than we are they will edge us ut-the test of civilizes n min in live on and to healthy and happy The Indian is crowded when half a dezen are on a square nule.
